Dear Allen,

I received your letter, written just before you went abroad and answered it at your Washington address.

When you mentioned to me the possibility of doing something in New York I said that that would be more convenient for personal and family reasons, but I feel that I should add that I do not want to exclude Washington and that we would be quite prepared to move there, if the opportunity presented itself.

W. Dulles, Esq.

I hope that you had a good trip.
I expect to be here until Labor Day and to go to New York on the following day.

Yours very sincerely, STAT
